SiLuETTE 1.0/5 Votes: 1.Scientists Predict a Cure for Endometriosis in the Future By Daniel Ettinger A study published today in the journal Science of the Society for Maternal-Fetal & Newborn Medicine demonstrates that a drug called helixor-1 can reduce the number of endometrial cells implanted in the mouse uterus. The research was carried out in collaboration with the University of Hull. Endometriosis is a painful disease that can affect millions of women worldwide. The disease is in which endometrial cells proliferate outside of the uterus and implant in other parts of the body, including the ovaries, bladder, intestine, scar tissue, and lungs. Endometriosis is one of the most common causes of infertility, and in some cases surgery and even hysterectomy are required to treat the disease. These findings are part of an effort to develop new drugs to treat endometriosis without surgical intervention,
